REPUBLICANS PREPARE TO OPEN THE CAMPAIGN

List of Meetings to Election Day—Fourth District Plans Work Ahead—Cecil Brown's Lone Campaign—Kuhio Returns Today.

Arrangements were perfected last night at a meeting of the Republican Central Committee for the opening of the campaign by holding a mass or ratification meeting at the Orpheum next Saturday night, at which the senatorial nominees, J. M. Dowsett, E. Faxon Bishop and John Lane, and the House candidates nominated by the convention last week, will make addresses. It is proposed to make this first meeting a monster affair.

Chairman Robertson, in opening the meeting, said that a partial list of meetings to be held during the campaign under the auspices of the Central Committee, had been prepared by the executive committee. This was presented at the meeting and adopted as follows:

September 24, mass meeting at the Orpheum.

October 1, Oahu Railroad station.

October 8, Kakaako.

October 15, Aala Park.

October 22, corner Bethel and Hotel streets.

October 29, Waialua.

November 5, Orpheum theater.

November 7, Union Square (last meeting).

The week days will be left open to the two district committees to fill in with meetings to suit their purposes and convenience, and will be arranged so that there will be no conflict of dates or duplication of speakers except where necessary.

On motion, the following sub-committee, comprising three from each district, was appointed to look after speakers and meetings: Fourth District, Messrs. Harris, E. W. Quinn, Johnson; Fifth District, Messrs. Lane, Douglas, Clark.

The following sub-committee on printing and distribution of campaign literature, (a large amount to be in the Hawaiian language), was also appointed: Fourth District, Messrs. Beal and Long; Fifth District, Messrs. Waterhouse and Mahelona.

Notices will be served on all the nominees for the Senate and House that their services will be required on Saturday evening next.

Treasurer E. Faxon Bishop made a very important announcement during the evening, as follows:

"There is going to be enough money to enable the Republicans to carry this campaign to victory in a creditable manner."

The statement was received with applause, as it had been made in answer to a humorous query on the part of the chairman as to whether there was any money in sight.

The question of the registration of voters was discussed and it was suggested that the districts look after this matter carefully and see that all available Republican voters had their names registered upon the return of the Board from the country districts. It was reported that there would be but fourteen days in which to register after Monday next. The statement was made that the majority of those who have already registered are Hawaiians, and that the "foreign" registration had been quite light thus far.

Naturalization of prospective citizens was also discussed. It was suggested that the district committees look after intending citizens and refer all such to the Central Committee.

The sub-committees named above will meet on Thursday evening at the central headquarters.

FIFTH DISTRICT TONIGHT.

The Republican Fifth District Executive Committee will meet this evening at headquarters to map a line of work for the coming campaign. An earnest request for a large attendance has been issued by Chairman Vida.

BANNER RAISING FOR THE FOURTH DISTRICT

The Fourth District Republican Committee held a meeting last evening in their new headquarters, corner of Alakoa and Merchant streets, and decided to hold a meeting tomorrow evening, and invite the candidates for the Senate and House, and presidents of the Fourth District precinct clubs to be present to discuss the coming campaign.

On Thursday evening the regular weekly meeting of the District will be held.

On Friday evening there will be a banner raising ceremony at which the "Fourth District headquarters" canvas will be stretched across the street. At this ceremony there will be speechmaking, music and fireworks.

The committee appointed to arrange for this celebration comprises E. Towse, C. Quinn and C. Zeigler.

The new headquarters is a commodious hall with a large seating capacity. There is a private room for the officers.

CECIL BROWN WILL RUN INDEPENDENTLY

Cecil Brown announces that he will run for the Senate as an independent Republican. Mr. Brown claims to have a pledge of support from independent men in all parties. His defeat at the district convention on Friday prompted Mr. Brown to run for office. He is said to have the necessary twenty-five signatures attached to a petition, which is sufficient to have the Registrar of Elections put his name on the election ballots.

It was first rumored on the streets that Mr. Brown had left the Republican party altogether and intended annexing himself to the Democratic party. Democrats shook their heads when asked if this were true, but during the day Mr. Brown denied that it was his purpose to leave the Republican party.

Mr. Brown is likely to have a large vote at the expense of Carlos Long, who is regarded as a political vacuum.

DEMOCRATS TURN BROWN DOWN

At an informal caucus of Democrats held last evening the name of Cecil Brown was proposed to be endorsed on the Democratic ticket.

This met with objection as not being consistent with the stand taken by the Democrats to put only Democrats into

RUSSIANS ARE BEATEN BACK

THE OLAA SETTLER WHO DIED
HEROICALLY AT PORT ARTHUR

COMMODORE IVAN N. LEBEDIEFF, WHOSE TRAGIC ENDING WAS DESCRIBED IN THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN CAMERON THE WELL-KNOWN LOCAL PILOT

One of the most prominent of the island captains received his last promotion last night when Edward Frederick Cameron passed away. For nearly twenty-four years Captain Cameron has been a leading figure in island shipping circles and previous to that time he devoted the larger part of his life to following the sea. As master of one of the P. & O. liners running out of Calcutta, as master of the Wilder Steamship Company's boats for over seventeen years and as harbor pilot he has impressed all who have had relations with him by his courage, his integrity and his trustworthiness. He loved the sea and was a captain that could be depended upon by his superiors. Those who knew him best as a man bear witness to his splendid character and say that he did not have an enemy in the world. He was of the most courageous disposition and always sacrificed his own comfort for that of others. An incident is told of the time when he took the Kinu with the Hawaiian Commission over to Hilo. The boat was jammed to the rails with people and her officers were tired out, yet Captain Cameron insisted on giving his berth in the cabin to a newspaper man who was without a place to sleep.

Edward Frederick Cameron was born in New York on the 25th day of November, 1839, being 65 years old at his death. At an early age he went to sea and followed it all his life. At an early age he became captain of one of the P. & O. liners on the Indian Ocean running out of Calcutta. He was captain of many other vessels and voyaged all over the globe. About the year 1880 Captain Cameron came to Honolulu and took a position under the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company as captain of the steamer C. R.

Bishop. After remaining with the Inter-Island Company several years he resigned his position to enter the service of the Wilder Steamship Company. He remained with that company for seventeen years, having been mate of the Kinu and captain of nearly every other vessel in the fleet.

During his service with the Wilder company Captain Cameron was given the important task of carrying the Annexation Commission to San Francisco just after the revolution of 1893. He was at that time master of the Claudine and made the voyage in his little craft in safety. He remained in command of the Claudine until April 27, 1900, when he was appointed a pilot of Honolulu harbor which position he held until his death. He was a member of the Knights Templar and agent and surveyor for the American Bureau of Shipping.

Captain Cameron was long a sufferer from locomotor ataxia and bore his intense suffering with the utmost fortitude and without complaint. He had been suffering from a severe attack during the past few days and became rapidly worse yesterday, passing away quietly early in the evening. He leaves, beside the widow, two sons and two daughters, all grown. The two daughters are teachers in the public schools. The body is to be cremated and the funeral notice will be given out later when details are completed.

REGISTERED 200 IN OUTSIDE PRECINCTS

Chairman Rawlins of the Board of Registration returned to the city last evening having completed his first day's work of registering voters in the outside precincts. At Paolua, Aiea and Pearl City, 200 voters were registered. The chairman leaves this morning for Waipahu, Ewa Mill and Waiānae.

SCENES IN KULA AT GOV. CARTER'S RECEPTION.

HO SOL IS CONVICTED

Directed Verdict On Burned Note.

(From Sunday's Advertiser)

Ho Sol was found guilty of receiving stolen goods by the jury's verdict rendered at 5:15 yesterday afternoon, after deliberation of about twenty minutes. Mr. Cathcart noted exceptions and gave notice of motion for a new trial.

Most of the second day of the trial was taken up with the evidence of the defendant. He represented that a young man, one of the gang now in prison for the robbery of Pacheco's store, came to him with a story about his father's distress for money. The lad said his father had some goods to sell and the defendant agreed to buy them. In the morning, about 7:30 o'clock, he found a heap of merchandise on his veranda. His previous visitor arrived later and was paid $10.25. Ho Sol taking his receipt for the money.

Cross-examined by Deputy Attorney General Prosser, the defendant said he knew only one lad in the transaction, but when asked later how it was the carrying of so much goods upon his veranda did not disturb him he answered, "That was not much for two or three men."

A peculiarity of the receipt bill pointed out by Mr. Prosser was that it was dated March 28, whereas the date of the robbery was February 28. There also appeared to have been something written and erased under the signature of Albert Fieger, the thieves' cashier. These marks were apparent to Judge Gear on examination of the paper. Mr. Cathcart objected to both the prosecuting attorney's and the court's expiring of the paper, but his objections were overruled.

Heface Crabbe and Farm Cornn were called for the defense to prove Ho Sol's good character, but their testimony was struck out on the ground that it did not refer to the time of the alleged offense.

Cecil Brown's suit against Kate Braymer on a note for $350 was tried by Judge Robinson yesterday, ending in a directed verdict for the plaintiff. Early in the proceedings the Henry Waterhouse Trust Co., sued as garnishee, was discharged. The plaintiff appeared in person with W. Austin Whiting as associate counsel, and Geo. A. Davis for the defendant. Exceptions were profuse from beginning to end, and several incidents enhanced the interest of a case peculiar in itself.

An allegation of the complaint was that the note had been destroyed by fire. Kanaui, an old Hawaiian who had been employed as janitor of Cecil Brown's office for ten years, told on the witness stand about his bagging of rubbish there and having it burned in the furnace of the Honolulu Planning Mill. Not content with what he got in the office sweepings one day, he raked papers off a table into the rubbish bag and consigned them to the flames. By the evidence of Mr. Brown, George L. Bigelow and Frank M. Fernandez it was sought to prove that the note in question was in an envelope among the papers swept into the old man's rubbish bag from the table.

When two or three jurors had been excused for cause, the last being Patrick Ryan, the panel was exhausted. Ryan had been excused on the objection of Attorney Davis that he had held business relations with the plaintiff.

Mr. Davis objected to the summoning of talesmen, whereupon Mr. Brown made a statement that no money was owing between Juror Ryan and himself. The court then vacated the order excusing Ryan and he was called back to the jury box. Mr. Davis objected to the juror but his challenges were exhausted and his objection was overruled.

Under exceptions of the defendant the following jury was sworn to try the case: Norman Watkins, Sam, M. Kanakau, Wm. F. Erving, Hiram Kana, Louis C. King, J. J. Sullivan, Jas. Armstrong, H. P. Benson, Charles P. Osborne, Arthur L. Soule, Harry A. Wilder, Patrick Ryan.

When the plaintiff rested just before noon Mr. Davis stated that he would after recess move for a nonsuit. He had previously asked for time to prepare instructions for the jury and asked for a recess until 2 o'clock. Not only had he to prepare the papers but he must eat.

"I don't know whether your Honor is a heavy eater or not," Mr. Davis pleaded, "but I take for breakfast but a cup of tea, a piece of bread and perhaps half an egg, and I want my lunch in the middle of the day."

Apparently Mr. Davis spent more time at the lunch table than at his desk, for he came into court at 2 o'clock without written instructions on behalf of the defendant. He moved for a nonsuit, which was denied. In lieu of written instructions he was allowed by the court to state his points to the jury.

When both sides had argued, Judge Robinson directed the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff. Exceptions were noted by the defendant.

CHILD ADOPTED.

Judge Dr. Holt yesterday afternoon granted a decree of adoption, whereby James K. Wright adopted a male child born to William Albert Thompson and Grace Thompson in Honolulu on May 8, 1904. The parents signed the petition with the adopting father and in court solemnly signed their voluntary consent to the adoption. J. L. Kauiloku appeared for petitioners.

DYNAMITE PLOT RECALLED.

L. C. Camacho's suit for $500 damages against Arthur M. Brown, High Sheriff, was dismissed by Judge De Bolt yesterday on the ground that the statute of limitations had run against the suit. The plaintiff appeared in person and made a statement which was taken down by the stenographer. George A. Davis appeared for the High Sheriff and raised the point on which the case was dismissed. An exception was noted for the plaintiff by direction of the court, so as to give him an appeal to the Supreme Court if he choose.

Summons was served on November 15, 1902, returnable at the next February term. Camacho's complaint was in substance as follows: On May 15, 1900, in the Honolulu District Court, he was found guilty, under the name of L. C. Camas, of "intending to commit an offense against the person of A. de Canavara," as the complaint reads, and for having within six months previous "induced said A. de Canavara to believe that this plaintiff intended to kill him." He was ordered by the District Court to give a bond of $2500, with sufficient sureties, "to keep the peace towards the person of said A. de Canavara for the term of one year and in default thereof to be imprisoned" until the bond was executed. Being unable to give the bond he was imprisoned from May 15, 1900, to May 15, 1901. On May 26, 1900, he declares in his complaint, D. K. Puhul, while acting as an agent and employee of the defendant, "negligently, unnecessarily, violently and without cause or provocation, committed an assault and battery upon this plaintiff and then and there violently twisted and lamed the right arm of plaintiff, and violently struck this plaintiff in the neck and face, and violently threw this plaintiff against a bunk, so that one of plaintiff's ribs was broken, and another rib was displaced, and other grievous injuries suffered by plaintiff, and that plaintiff endured great suffering and anguish therefrom, to plaintiff's injury and damage in the sum of five thousand dollars."

The case recalls a conspiracy against the Portuguese consul, Senor A. de Souza Canavara, which succeeded to the extent of shattering a portion of his dwelling with dynamite early one morning. Camacho was charged with having made threats against the consul, whose name is incorrectly spelled in Camacho's complaint, Fitch & Hight were the attorneys for plaintiff in bringing the damage suit.

FITCH'S BIG SLICE.

Judge Gear, in sustaining the demurrer to the petition of M. A. Goncalves in the matter of the estate of Jose da Silva, shows that Thomas Fitch, attorney for the estate in fact of the widow, paid himself $534.95 out of $973.52 he received for his client. The petition thus dismissed was for an order to Antonio da Aguiar da Paulo, attorney in fact of the widow Antonia da Silva, to show cause why he should not deliver the money and property in his hands to the widow. Judge Gear relates that, at a previous stage of the case, he ordered the money that he believed improperly paid out to be paid into court, but that the Supreme Court found he had not power to make such an order in probate proceedings. In conclusion he says:

"It seems to me that the court has no power now to order in these probate proceedings that da Paulo turn over the property, or what he has left of it, to those whom he acted as attorney-in-fact for, for his action was theirs in so far as these proceedings are concerned. If an action for an accounting should be brought against him he might be made to account for the property, but no such order can be made in this probate proceeding."

"The court has gone into this matter at great length, but it has done so in order that the exact status of the estate might be seen, and this is done more particularly as the claimants are resident of Demerara, Guyana, and have communicated with the Consul here, who has asked the status of the case."

E. A. Douthitt for the motion; C. W. Ashford for da Paulo.

DIVORCE SUITS.

Most of yesterday before Judge De Bolt was occupied with the trial of the divorce case of Esther P. Juen against Harry A. Juen, the grounds alleged being non-support, extreme cruelty and unlawful appropriation of property. The trial will be resumed on Monday.

Hoolihui Hao was granted a divorce from Joe Hao for failure to provide by Judge Gear, who ordered the libellant to pay the libellant $20 a month alimony besides costs of court. Frank Andrade appeared for Mrs. Hao.

COURT NOTES.

Judge Robinson appointed C. K. Quinn administrator of the estate of Kaulana (w.), deceased, under $500 bond. This was on the petition of Panny Strauch, claiming to be interested as assignee of certain heirs at law.

Cecil Brown, trustee, had discontinued his assumpsit suit against Joseph Fernandez and W. C. Achl.

In the suit of John A. Cummins vs. J. O. Carter, trustee and others, it is stipulated that Matilda Walker Constable, Jane Moraberg, May C. Kibling and Thomas P. Cummins, defendants, shall have ten days from September 15 in which to plead, answer or demur to the complaint.

See Young's damage suit against Bishop & Co., for alleged malicious prosecution for passing counterfeit money, was discontinued before Judge Robinson. A. H. Correa appeared for plaintiff and A. A. Wilder for defendant.

SOUTH AFRICAN CARPENTER THIED BY CHAMBERLAIN'S CURE. CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY—Mr. Geo. Taylor, a carpenter at Port Elizabeth, Cape Colony, had a very bad attack of cholera and diarrhoea, says: "I was so ill I had to go to bed, when a friend told me that he had used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I got better at once. The cure was completely cured me. I am now as well as ever. This remedy cured all my friends and brought me back to health."

THE NEW METHODIST PASTOR AND HIS FIELD OF LABOR

REV. JOHN W. WADMAN.

Rev. John W. Wadman, recently appointed to the superintendency of the Hawaiian Mission of the M. E. Church, arrived by the "Sierra," as previously announced in these columns and has taken up his residence in the parsonage of the Methodist Church, corner of Miller and Beretania streets. Mr. Wadman is accompanied by his eldest daughter who has just completed her seminary course in the Women's College of Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Wadman will remain for a short time on the mainland for the education of his other children, all of whom will, in the near future, make their home in Honolulu.

The Board of Missions of the M. E. Church has felt the need for some time of increasing and extending the interests of their work here among the Japanese and Koreans, and at the General Conference in its recent session at Los Angeles it was decided to organize this work into a separate mission and appoint a superintendent in full charge. The purpose is to develop the work more thoroughly, appoint several missionaries, raise up a band of native helpers, open schools, build small chapels and place the mission as soon as possible upon a self-supporting basis. Mr. Wadman has spent fifteen years in Japan, giving himself fully to the study of the people, their customs and language. He has taught in their schools and preached in their towns and villages. For several years he has dwelt in the interior of the country, being the only white man for miles around, but has latterly resided in Yokohama in charge of the mission interests there and in Toko.

Previous to his missionary career, he spent ten or twelve years as a pastor in his native land and served two or three important city appointments. He thus enters upon his new duties here with considerable experience and hopes to make the work a success.

Rev. G. L. Pearson, who for several years so effectively cared for these mission interests in connection with his pastorate of the (English) M. E. Church, is now attending the annual meeting of the California Conference and will be appointed, it is expected, to some San Francisco church. This same conference will arrange for a man to come as his successor here. This may take some few weeks to find a suitable person for this important place and fully adjust matters but in the meanwhile Mr. Wadman will supply the pulpit of the English church, preaching morning and evening at the usual hours, beginning with the services on the morrow. The church is located on Beretania street, nearly opposite the Central Union church and all are most cordially invited to attend.

MORRIS KEOHOKALOLE SUPPORTED BY CHARITY

Following is an English translation of a letter written by Morris Keohokalole to his wife, appearing in the current number of the Aloha Aina. That paper also contains Mrs. Keohokalole's explicit denial of the truth of Delegate Kuhio's statement, made on Hawaii, that he had supplied her with money:

Washington, D.C., July 21, 1904.

My dearest wife: Misfortunes have made me unable to write and inform you of my predicament which you note by my address. I have not left it though I had told you to write me to Frisco. Such was a human being's proposition but the great Disposer of things willed it otherwise.

After leaving the house (Cupid's) or fired out, I immediately engaged me a room at 1717 DeSales St. where Mr. Semmes was living and there waited for my March money balance. Kuhio had paid me a check of $60.00 for money loaned to Mr. Clark when I immediately told the servant girl that I wanted to speak again to the Prince, (for the March money) to enable me to get a ticket, as the rates there were so high, but had become the usual non-reduced tickets, purchased at first class, about $97.00, second class, $82.00, but I waited in vain. The early part of came right after pay-day. I made another attempt to speak to him, and with the same result. In the meantime my fund was dwindling down by my doctor's bill of $21.00 first, and then rent and a few necessary things practically broke me at the beginning of June. Matters got from bad to worse. Mr. Semmes having left for New Orleans, his home, in May, went and asked Mr. Haywood and Mr. Armstrong to lend me money enough to get to Frisco, but they practically told me, I was able-bodied which meant to get work for money, that would be manual labor. During this month I had to dispose of a lot of clothes for almost nothing to keep me fed and sleep; two new suits and other clothes I brought. My last attempts were to Governor Carter while in Chicago, and I suspect, he purposely avoided to reply, and to Mr. Coke, recently at the St. Louis Democratic Convention, and he may not have received it there, for I had no money to buy a newspaper previous or at his arrival at St. Louis, which I learned of it accidentally picking up a newspaper in the park. Yesterday I asked Mr. Glascoff of the Associated Charities for some postage stamps which he kindly gave me three and availed this my first opportunity to write you and also to Mr. H. C. Ellis for money and he might be busted, yet I hope not.

I have been under weather during the greater portion of June with rheumatism and blues and for many a day been despondent, but still had plenty of courage to fight it off and was around trying, to get a little work to get something to eat, but it was very hard. Once I was without food for about 40 hours and several times 12 to 24 hours. Sleeping was out of doors all that time wherever it may be safe from the police, but one night went along with two others, were arrested for being a vagrant while asleep next morning and taken to the station house and then to the court house on the Black Maria (a wagon that prisoners at the different stations are taken in to the court house). Was released upon my explanation for having written for funds and would go home when received. Since then have been with or under the care of the Associated Charities until I either get something to do here or other relief. How is my land matter? If satisfactory to Kalaui reserve lot occupied by church building and for house lot. I will sign deed upon return, no money to make out power of attorney—let him give you money or portion of it. There is rent due yet on that land. My paper is getting to this.

FOREIGN LABOR TURNS BACK FROM MEXICAN EMPLOY

Portuguese of Hawaii, who are urged to go to Mexico, will be interested in the following article from the Japan Times:

By the steamer Akabono Maru 401 of the Japanese immigrants who on June 15 last left Honolulu for Mexico, arrived at Acapulco, Mexico, on July 1 and the following day the emigrants landed and set out for a new work in the country. Mr. Yutaka Yamaoka, ex-M. P., who accompanied the immigrants in the capacity of superintendent, died on July 21 during the sea trip voyage. From various reports at Acapulco it appears that the Akabono Maru arrived at Acapulco on July 1 and the following day the emigrants landed and set out for a new work in the Frenchmen, who had engaged the Japanese at miners at the wage of one dollar and fifty cents (50 cents) per head per day. Owing to the intolerable heat and to the existence of gas in the mine, the Japanese found it impossible to work. Finally, all of the men were sent back to the Akabono Maru, which left Santa Rosalia on July 29 for home, the others having decided to remain behind and find employment. On receipt of the news of the arrival at Yokohama, the Toyo Emigration Company which had originally dispatched the men to Mexico, at once gave instructions that they were not to be landed at Yokohama, and that the vessel should be sent to Kobe. Owing, however, to a demonstration on the part of the emigrants, they were allowed to land at Yokohama on the evening of the 28th inst., returning to their respective homes by rail.

With reference to the above affair, the following telegram dated August 21 from Mr. Sugimura Japanese Minister to Mexico, has been received at the Foreign Office: "Our immigrants, 500 in number, have refused to engage in the work contracted for and have even gone so far as to create a disturbance. Four hundred and fifty of the men have therefore been sent back home by the steamer Akabono Maru. The remaining 50 have decided to stay in Mexico, but 10 of them are reported to be missing."

An interview between Mr. Kotaro Sakuma, president of the Toyo Imin Kaisha (Oriental Emigration Company), and a demonstration of the emigrants recently sent back from Mexico, reported in these columns a few days ago, took place on the morning of the 31st inst., in the presence of a number of press representatives. Mr. Gunji Hamada, on behalf of the emigrants, enumerated ten causes for complaint, the principal of which were (1), that in the vicinity of the mine where the emigrants were employed, the thermometer always registered 125 degrees F. in the shade; (2) that the ores were not only yielding but were so hot that any contact with them meant an immediate burn; (3) that the bad ventilation rendered temperature within the pit unbearable for the Japanese, etc. All these complaints were, however, refuted as groundless by Mr. Sakuma and the interview ended in failure. It is feared that the present affair may possibly lead to a law suit.

FRANK DAVEY IS NOW IN SAN JOSE

The San Jose Mercury devotes a page to Frank Davey, who has formed a photographic partnership there. It prints cuts of photographs he has made of eminent men and women and of Hawaiian scenes. Some of the reading matter is as follows:

There has lately been added to our local list of artist-photographers a name with almost a world wide reputation, that of Mr. Frank Davey, who has become associated with our own Andrew P. Hill.

Mr. Davey is by birth an Englishman, his native place being London, where he was born February 27, 1869. He was educated as an artist in his native city, under the able instruction of his father, William Turner Davey, a member of the Royal Academy and one of the best known historical engravers of London. In 1880 Mr. Davey left England for the continent, and was associated with Watery of Paris. Later he came to New York, where he was with Sarony, and then on to California, where he was ten years with Taber. From California he went to Japan, China and other points of the Orient, where he gathered valuable experience, and met, in his professional capacity, most of the notables of those places. He was in Hawaii for seven years, where he became familiar with the leading points and people of that paradise of the Pacific. Recently he returned to California, and formed the present business association in San Jose.

DAVEY'S ARTISTIC STANDING.

As an artist-photographer Mr. Davey has few equals and no superior. This work is the passion of his life, and into it he has put all his marvelous energy and enthusiasm. Constant experiment and improvement in his work have marked his professional career. While with the Taber company he invented and improved various processes that have been in great demand; and originated the Iridian process, which has been successfully used for some years.

Undoubtedly, no other one photographer in the world has taken such a wide variety of scenic views, or of people. All parts of the world have yielded their attractions to his camera, almost all the famous men and women of the times have sat for him.

He has autographic photographs of great men and women from all parts of the world and in every profession and walk of life.

DYNAMITE USED IN ATTEMPT TO KILL

Deputy Sheriff Lane of Kona district, Oahu, reports to headquarters an attempt to assassinate a family on Sunday night in his district, dynamite being used. The house of a native named Hulao in Kaaawa was selected by the criminal. On Sunday evening, Hulao, his wife and four children were in the house when a violent explosion in close proximity started them. Members of the family were thrown to the floor, a window was shattered and boards in the side of the house parted.

Investigation showed a deep hole near the house and it was apparent that dynamite had been dropped there. It is presumed that the assassin intended placing the dynamite under the house but was frightened off and left it to explode nearby.

A Portuguese named Lubine was taken into custody by Kona to await the result of the investigation. Lubine has had several contacts with Hulao and is said to have threatened to kill him.

THE POPE'S PHYSICIAN ENDORSES AN AMERICAN REMEDY.

Dr. Lapponi Uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills In His Practice Because Results Meet His Expectations.

Dr. Lapponi, the famous physician to the Vatican, whose name has recently come so greatly to the front on account of his unremitting attention to His Holiness, the late Pope Leo XIII, and the high esteem and confidence with which he is regarded by the present Pope, His Holiness Pius X, is a man of commanding genius. He is more than a mere man of science; he is a man of original and independent mind. Untrammelled by the "etiquette" of the medical profession and having used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in his practice with good results, he freely avows the facts and endorses the value of this remedy with an authority which no one will venture to question.

DR. LAPPONI'S LETTER.

"I certify that I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of the simple anaemia of development. After a few weeks of treatment, the result came fully up to my expectations. For that reason I shall not fail in the future to extend the use of this laudable preparation not only in the treatment of other forms of the category of anaemia or chlorosis, but also in cases of neurasthenia and the like." (Signed) Giuseppe Lapponi, Via del Gracchi 532, Rome.

The "simple anaemia of development," referred to by Dr. Lapponi, is of course, that tired, languid condition of young girls, whose development to womanhood is tardy and whose health, at this period, is so often imperiled. His opinion of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People at that time is of the highest scientific authority, and it confirms the many published cases in which anaemia and other diseases of the blood, as well as nervous diseases such as nervous prostration, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, paralysis and locomotor ataxia, have been cured by these pills. They are commended to the public for their efficiency in making new blood and strengthening weak nerves. After such an endorsement they will be accepted by the medical and scientific world at their full value.

THIS YEAR'S SUGAR CROP FOR HAWAII

The leaf hopper has worked overtime on this island but the plantations have made sugar in spite of the adverse conditions caused solely by that pest. The greatest amount of damage was done to the cane of the Hawaiian Agricultural Company and though the season's crop is less than half of what it was last year it will be still less next season, for the greatest damage was done to the 1903-4 crop. There are other plantations that did a little better than the estimates and some others that did worse. Olua fell about five thousand tons short. With the enemy to the leaf hopper found, the crop in 1906 on this island should be very large. Following is the output of all the plantations that could be reached yesterday:

Hutchinson	5,500
Hawaiian Agricultural Co.	8,500
Olua	17,000

GREAT SUBWAY A DEATH TRAP

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The reports that the subway is fireproof and that there is no danger of a repetition of the Paris catastrophe, where scores were killed, were shattered tonight, when smoke poured in such dense volumes from the station at Lenox avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street that the firemen were unable to enter the tunnel. A section of the subway was so full of smoke that the firemen said that if there had been a train there, the passengers would have been in danger of suffocation. The fire started in the waiting-room and spread so quickly that the entire room was burning before the blaze was discovered. The room was practically destroyed. The police, after the fire was put out, were asked to investigate a report that the fire was of incendiary origin.

James Denton's Illness.

Dr. A. G. Hodgins returned in the Klaka from his visit by special steamer to James Denton, the veteran planter at Kilauea. The patient is suffering with a cancerous growth in the breast, and though there is little hope of his recovery he may hold out for quite a time. Dr. Hodgins left Mr. Denton in about the same condition as he found him in. Manager Geo. P. Denton of Kilauea plantation, one of the oldest men, afflicted with the disease, said:

OAHU REPUBLICANS NAME 'FULL LEGISLATIVE TICKET'

Senatorial Nominations Go to Bishop, Dowsett and Lane--Cecil Brown Fails of Enough Votes to Return Him to Upper House.

(From Saturday's Advertiser)

Republican Senatorial ticket for Oahu:
E. FAXON BISHOP,
J. M. DOWSETT,
JOHN C. LANE.
Republican Representative ticket for Oahu:

Fourth District—
W. W. HARRIS,
CARLOS A. LONG,
E. W. QUINN,
FRANK ANDRADE,
E. K. LILIKALANI,
WM. AYLETT.
Fifth District—
KALEIOPUU,
SOL. MAHELONA,
OSCAR COX,
CHAS. BROAD,
JAMES SHAW,
THOS. KALAWAIA.

The above is the result of last night's joint convention of the Fourth and Fifth districts, (Oahu), and is the ticket which the Republican party will ratify next Saturday evening at the Orpheum theater.

The Senatorial ticket is the result of a sharp contest. Four candidates were nominated—J. M. Dowsett, Johnson C. Lane, E. Faxon Bishop and Cecil Brown. The convention was enthusiastic in the naming of the candidates and the speeches were full of ginger. The balloting left Cecil Brown far down the list and Bishop, Lane and Dowsett were declared elected. Lane led the entire ticket.

In the separate conventions held by the Fourth and Fifth districts, a large number of candidates were proposed but there were many waterloos. The Fifth was supposedly agreed upon its candidates, but despite this the balloting left a few who were believed to have the votes in their vest pockets, far in the rear.

In the Fourth probably three of those who won out were district preferences. Others were elected by sheer weight of the desire for precinct representation. The Fifth district has an entire Hawaiian or part Hawaiian representative ticket. The Fourth is divided, its representation being considered under the following heads: Quinn, laboring element; Lilikalani for Kakaako element; Frank Andrade, Portuguese colony; Harris, business men; Aylett and Carlos Long, natives generally.

THE CONVENTION.
While the convention delegates were assembling the air was full of politics. In fact, it fairly buzzed. Political bees were numerous and everybody had his bonnet cocked just right. Groups formed and discussed the situation, and then dissolved, soon to merge into other groups.

It was known from the drift of the talk that a contest would be on to have Cecil Brown nominated. The Dowsett and Bishop factions were equally prominent and thus the question stood when the gavel fell.

CONVENTION OPENED.
Chairman Robertson of the Central Committee called the convention to order at 8 a. m. Assigning the Fourth district to the Ewa side and the fifth to the Waikiki side of the hall. The assembly filled the auditorium, the Fourth district having the largest number.

NAWAAKOA CHAIRMAN.
G. W. Nawaakoa of Ewa was selected as permanent chairman of the joint convention amid applause. He declined to make a speech, except to call the convention to get down to business.

On motion of Lorrin Andrews the secretaries of the Fourth and Fifth districts were made the permanent secretaries. Geo. Thielman for the Fourth and Mr. St. C. Pianaia for the Fifth came forward.

The chairman then asked the convention to be brief in its deliberations. He said that credentials were unnecessary as both districts were thoroughly organized.

CECIL BROWN APPLAUDED.
While the roll was being called for the Fourth district, Cecil Brown entered the hall and was given an ovation.

ALL PRESENT.
The Fourth district delegates were all either present in person or by proxy. There were seventy-six from the Fourth and fifty from the Fifth district.

The chair then called for nominations for senators.

DOWSETT NOMINATED.
George Sea of the Fourth District placed J. M. Dowsett in nomination.

BROWN NOMINATED.

W. C. Roe, in a patriotic speech, nominated Cecil Brown. He said Brown had steered the ship of state through shoals and breakers. He was a man of ability and used his energy for the welfare of all the people. He was a diplomat who stood in the class with Gov. George B. Carter. He equaled statesmen of the mainland, such as "Senator" Morgan, Fairbanks, and—Fletcher. He was a man known from one end of the island to the other. "These places are not for me," declared Mr. Roe.

"Who is?" called out some one.

"I am great honor in nominating

J. M. DOWSETT.

Cecil Brown.

Judge Kaulukou seconded the nomination. He spoke strongly in favor of Brown, calling attention to his past services in the old forms of government as a legislator, and his claim upon the party.

Frank Thompson of the Fourth said that politics made strange bed-fellows and strange situations. The beautiful encomiums thrown at the feet of his candidate by Mr. Roe (laughter), had robbed him of his usual flow of language. The business of the convention, however, was serious. The speaker felt the party was to be congratulated in having two names presented who carried integrity and honesty into a campaign. The strength and ability of candidates must be considered. Another was "to be sprung sub-rosa later."

One candidate was the unknown X in the political equation. The other was a worked out equation since 1876—one who had been tried in the fire of politics and business. He named Cecil Brown. He had pulled himself up by his own shoe strings. He had risen, not by chicanery, but by hard knocks and honest ones. He had risen from impecuniosity to affluence. When it came to men who were to make laws, one who would know when one law would conflict with another, then a lawyer in the Senate was needed. Mr. Brown was the only member of the Senate Committee who said the County Act as proposed, would not have gone to the Supreme Court and been knocked out. Brown knew the law, both from a professional and legislative standpoint. Brown was the man for the Senate.

LANE NOMINATED.
Mr. Kellipoo nominated John C. Lane in a brief speech.

BISHOP SECONDS.
Faxon Bishop said the man who nominated Lane had done the right thing. Lane should have a unanimous nomination. His own precinct in the Fourth District was with him. John Lane had always been with the party. He was a strong man.

BISHOP IN RACE.

Geo. W. Smith said he noticed a willingness of business men to go into politics to protect the taxpayers. He said: "One of the interesting and significant movements in our political life today is the willingness exhibited by leading business and professional men to enter political life, not for what there is in it but to represent the people, to enact good laws, to protect the taxpayer, to raise public office above the odium that has been attached to it."

The movement has been slow, too slow for many but it has been sure and is gaining ground with each election time.

"Time was when the business man, the clean man, the leader among his fellows, feared to stand for political honors. He was subjected to abuse and scurrility, called a snob, and aristocrat and what not."

Why, look at the career of that matchless American, our President, Theodore Roosevelt, (and by the way Mr. Chairman he is the same man that will be our next President), (applause). When he first entered political life, because he did not meet on the street and give the glad hand to every political "tout" he was dubbed an aristocrat, a bloated bondholder, a blue-blooded nobody that had nothing in common with the people, an upstart that wanted to deprive the genuine political manager of his just earnings. But the people knew better. The politicians shied him, as they thought, but the hand of destiny lifted him to high places, the people have endorsed him.

The movement I have referred to has reached even our island territory and we find today men in our midst, business men, professional men, leaders in their respective vocations, who are willing to come forward and give their time and ability for the service of their fellow citizens. Among these is one that is known to you all, one who has come up through all the stages of business life, from a sugar clerk in the wharves through situations of trust to one of the most important offices in the oldest American house in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Chairman, I take pleasure and feel honored in placing before this convention as nominee for senator from the Fourth district the name of Mr. E. Faxon Bishop. (Tremendous applause.)

ANDREWS ENDORSES DOWSETT.

Lorrin Andrews endorsed Jack Dowsett, saying that he was a business man with sound sense and a level head. His name was a household word in Oahu and if elected he would not only be a strong member of the Senate, but he would add strength to the party ticket. It did not require all lawyers in the Senate. A hard-headed business man there was as much needed as a lawyer. The nominations were then closed, and Frank Thompson moved for a recess of five minutes. Lorrin Andrews jumped to his feet and objected and moved as an amendment to proceed to the business of voting. His amendment prevailed and the convention proceeded to ballot. Frank Richardson for the Fourth District and Henry Vida for the Fifth District were chosen as tellers.

BUSINESS MEN'S TICKET.
The result of the first ballot was as follows:
E. Faxon Bishop, 95.
J. M. Dowsett, 89.
John C. Lane, 118.
Cecil Brown, 61.

CANDIDATES ESCORTED.
Lorrin Andrews and Frank Thompson escorted the three successful candidates to the platform.

"Here they are," said the chair.

LANE ACCEPTS.
Mr. Lane thanked the convention for the honor. The fight was not through yet and on behalf of his district he stated that his two associates would be elected. He predicted a victory for the Republican party.

BISHOP SPEAKS.

E. Faxon Bishop remarked that he had little to say. Now that everybody had had their chance to ballot for their favorites, he expected everybody to go in and help out the three winners. "We three (referring to Messrs. Dowsett and Lane and himself), feel pretty high up just now, but there is hard work for us all during the campaign. If elected I will do all I can for the good government of this Territory. I will be ready to listen to complaints and suggestions and will do everything to comply with the wishes of my constituents." (Applause.)

DOWSETT'S PLATFORM.

J. M. Dowsett said: "I find it hard to express my appreciation for the honor you have conferred upon me. I think this is a double honor. First as my friend Thompson said, because I am, or was, the unknown quantity in this campaign—that is a great honor—and second, for the honor of being elected to fight for the greatest political party on earth—that is an honor to be proud of." (Applause.)

"I pledge myself, gentlemen, to support the platform as adopted by the Republican convention at Hilo. I endorse it from beginning to end."

"I pledge myself to support Governor Carter and his administration (prolonged applause), and heartily endorse the nomination that has been given to Prince Kuhio for Delegate to Congress."

"We have before us a strenuous campaign. We have got a hard fight ahead. I pledge my best efforts to carry the party to success, but with your undivided support we can wipe our opponents off the board. I want to do one thing for this Territory. Harmony is the first and last motive of this campaign. We want harmony in our own ranks, and then we will be sure to go forward to victory. There ought to be but one party in these islands, and that full of harmony." (Applause.)

The joint convention then adjourned.

FOURTH DISTRICT NOMINEES.
Lorrin Andrews then called the Fourth district convention to order and called for nominations for representatives.

W. W. Harris was nominated by Ed Towse.

E. W. Quinn was nominated by A. G. M. Robertson for the Fourth precinct. He thought the Fourth was entitled to representation in the lower House. He considered Mr. Quinn as a representative of the working and laboring elements.

M. C. Pacheco was nominated by a young Portuguese.

Wm. Aylett was nominated by W. C. Roe.

Frank Andrade was nominated as representing the majority of the Portuguese by Mr. Gonsalves.

C. A. Long was nominated by E. M. Kanakani, as one who advanced the interests of the party, and one who was the friend of the people.

E. K. Lilikalani was nominated. The nomination was seconded by Sam Johnson, who said that "eloquence was contagious" and he had to say a word for Kakaako and Keweenaw. He said his votes were registered in the last campaign, and there were now 100. He felt the precinct should be represented. He endorsed the nomination tion of E. K. Lilikalani. John Lucas was nominated by Geo. W. Smith as a man who was identified with the laboring element.

JOHN C. LANE.

Ed Towse received a nomination. Sam. Kamalopili was nominated by Mr. Fleming.

The nominations closed and the chair appointed Messrs. Fleming and Sea as tellers.

The balloting resulted as follows:
W. W. Harris, 61.
Carlos A. Long, 56.
E. W. Quinn, 55.
Frank Andrade, 54.
E. K. Lilikalani, 53.
Wm. Aylett, 51.
John Lucas, 36.
Ed Towse, 38.
Sam. Kamalopili, 36.
M. C. Pacheco, 19.

The first six were declared elected, and the Fourth adjourned with cheers for the candidates and the party.

FIFTH DISTRICT NOMINEES.

The Fifth district caucused after the joint convention and after a deal of talk settled down to the business of balloting. During the time nominations were being made, Judge Kaulukou arose and put in nomination the name of Jack Kalakela. He said he was not of the same precinct as Kalakela, but had been requested to make the nomination. As the name of Kalakela had been withdrawn previously from the race, in favor of Shaw, some surprise was manifested that Judge Kaulukou should break into the caucus in this manner.

The six men elected are as follows:
Kalelepuu (8th precinct), 42.
Sol. Mahelona (6th precinct), 42.
Oscar Cox (3rd precinct), 47.
Chas. Broad (10th precinct), 39.
James Shaw (9th precinct), 36.
Thos. Kalawala (2nd precinct), 36.

CAUCUS FOR LANE.

A caucus of the Fifth district was held yesterday afternoon at the King street headquarters of the Fifth, at which a lively contest was had between Lane and Adams for the nomination for the senatorship. The first ballot gave the following results:
Lane, 36; Adams, 14.
Mr. Adams then arose and thanked his supporters and asked that the caucus cast a unanimous vote for his opponent, which was done.

SHAW STARTS A WATER CAMPAIGN

James E. Shaw, nominee for the House from the Ninth of the Fifth on the Republican ticket, has already started his campaign. The people in the upper part of his precinct have suffered from lack of water for four or five years. He introduced a resolution last night that will give them water within a month, provided it is adopted by the Territorial Central Committee as is expected.

Taking time by the forelock, he has secured the contingent support of the administration and if the Central Committee acts Monday night, some of the pipe which recently arrived on a sailing vessel will be laid for their benefit.

After the nominations were over Shaw pushed through the crowd who wanted to congratulate him and securing Chairman Vida's eye had read the following communication from the Ninth precinct (Fifth district) Republican Club:

NINTH PRECINCT REPUBLICAN CLUB, FIFTH REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT.

Honolulu, H. I., July 25, 1904.

To the Chairman and Members, Fifth District Republican Committee.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to forward herewith a certified copy of the resolutions introduced and unanimously adopted by the club last Friday in re Water Pipes for Puunui Tract.

Pursuant to instructions, I have the honor to request that your Honorable body will endorse the same and forward them to the new Republican Territorial Central Committee with a request to them that they send them on to the Governor with their endorsement and a request to the Governor to act on the same to the end that Puunui residents may obtain the water they have long promised for four or five years but which has so far failed to materialize.

Yours very truly,
A. ST. C. PIANAIA,
Secretary.

Shaw then jumped to his feet in the midst of the excitement and moved the

AN IMPRESSIVE RITE PERFORMED

Corner Stone of St. Elizabeth's Memorial Church Is Well Laid.

(From Monday's Advertiser)

A rattle of drums, the tramp of uniformed men and the fluttering of many banners aroused the dwellers of Palama yesterday to apprehensions of a Russian invasion, but as the head of the little army came into view on King street it could be seen that it was an army of peace marching under the banner of the Cross. The occasion was the laying of the corner stone of St. Elizabeth's church, one of the group of buildings given to St. Elizabeth's school by Mr. Proctor of Cincinnati in memory of his wife. The ceremonies, which were largely attended, were most impressive and beautiful, being according to the time-honored ritual of the Episcopal church.

A few minutes before four o'clock the various divisions of the procession formed on the yard of the present St. Elizabeth's house and in the street in front and promptly at the hour set the line began to move. At the head, as a guard of honor, were the St. Andrew's Cadets, thirty-nine strong. The boys made a most excellent showing with their khaki uniforms and campaign hats. They were without arms except for the side arms of the officers. Following this company came the cadets of St. Elizabeth's uniformed in blue coats and white duck trousers. At their head was a drummer and the standards of the company, an American, a Hawaiian and a Chinese flag. After the cadets the girls of St. Andrew's Priory marched, carrying banners. Following the girls came the vested choir of St. Andrew's cathedral (both Hawaiian and English), St. Peter's and St. Elizabeth's and the clergy preceded by a crucifer.

The procession passed down King street and into the open field at the corner of King street and Pua lane, where it formed around the sides of a hollow square with the cornerstone in the center. The clergy proceeded to the center of the inclosure and the choir gathered around the organ at the south corner. The organist of St. Andrew's presided at the instrument.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE.
The processional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation is Jesus Christ Her Lord," and the opening sentences commenced the services. Rev. W. E. Potwine, rector of St. Elizabeth's, officiated and read the eighty-fourth Psalm. This was followed by the Gloria Patri.

After prayer the clergy approached the stone and Rev. Mr. Simpson of St. Andrew's Cathedral placed a metal box within the stone, reading the list of articles placed in it as follows:

One copy of the Holy Bible, copy of the Book of Common Prayer, copy of the Journal of the Second Annual Convention of the Missionary District of Honolulu, copy of the Anglican Church Chronicle of September 3, 1904, copy of the Spirit of Missions, August, 1904; photographs of Mr. W. A. Proctor, the donor of the church and other buildings connected therewith, and of his late wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Proctor, in whose memory the generous gifts were made; photographs of the students of the night-school and the old buildings where the work was begun; copy of the Advertiser of Honolulu, containing an account of the inception of the work of St. Elizabeth's House under Deaconess Drant, an account in Chinese of the history and work of St. Elizabeth's House, of Honolulu; list of the helpers in the Mission.

adoption of the following resolution, which went through with a rush on a unanimous vote.

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, The Ninth Precinct Republican Club of this District did, at a regular meeting of said club, to-wit, the twenty-second of July, this year, adopt a resolution asking the assistance of this committee in obtaining water pipes for the residents of Puunui Tract in said Precinct, a copy of which resolution is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and

Whereas, This Committee deem the request for water proper and worthy of the full endorsement of the Republican party in the Fifth District.

Be it Resolved, That said resolutions be and are hereby endorsed and that the Chairman and Secretary be authorized and instructed to forward a certified copy thereof, together with this resolution to the new Republican Territorial Central Committee with the request that they endorse the same and forward them to the Governor, asking the Governor to use his best endeavors to see that the same are granted by the Superintendent of Public Works as soon as possible.

JAMES E. SHAW.

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, The residents of Puunui Tract have long been suffering from want of water,

Whereas, Their only source of supply at present is rain water from the roofs and the water flowing in Puunui stream,

Whereas, Said supplies are insufficient and unhealthy,

Whereas, The successive Superintendents of Public Works and Superintendents of Honolulu Water Works have recognized repeatedly the justice of the demands of these people,

Whereas, The Legislature of 1903 recognized the same by making an appropriation of $1000 therefor, which has since lapsed, and

Whereas, The Superintendent of STONE IS LAID.

After the box containing these articles had been deposited in the stone the congregation sang "Christ Is Made the Sure Foundation," and then Deaconess Drant, who is in charge of the work, laid the first trowelful of mortar, being followed by the clergy present. Rev. Mr. Potwine then pronounced the stone laid with the following words:

"In the faith of the ever-blessed Trinity, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, and in loving memory of Charlotte Elizabeth Proctor, we place this foundation-stone, and begin the erection of a building to be known as St. Elizabeth's House, and a house of worship to be called St. Elizabeth's Church. May the fear of God and the love of the brethren ever be taught and practiced here, in accordance with the principles of the church and in conformity with the truths of the everlasting Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ; Amen."

The entire congregation then joined in repeating the creed and in singing, "Our Father's God, to Thee," to the tune "America." Rev. Kong Yim Tet, rector of St. Peter's Chapel, then offered prayer in Chinese and Rev. John Osborne of St. Clement's pronounced the benediction. To the recessional hymn, "Fling Out the Banner" the procession reformed and marched back to the old buildings and disbanded.

THE NEW BUILDINGS.

The site on which the new buildings are being erected is at the north corner of King street and Pua lane, having a frontage of 150 feet on King and 220 feet on Pua lane. On the mauka side of the lot is the rectory, which is now well advanced towards completion. Just makal of this is the site of the new church. This will be a beautiful structure 68 feet long with a nave 26 feet wide and a chancel 20x20 feet in size. The nave will seat 150 people with comfort. There is also to be a room for the organ 10 feet square and a vestry room 10x13.

The chancel is to be separated from the nave by a rood screen and will seat a choir of twenty. The sanctuary will be cut off from the chancel by the usual sanctuary rail and a beautiful altar will occupy it with a handsome carved wood retables. Above the altar will be a memorial window to Mrs. Proctor. The whole structure is to be surmounted by a belfry containing a bell.

Ewa of the church will be St. Elizabeth's House proper. It will be 48x50 feet and two stories in height. The lower story will be devoted to class rooms separated by rolling partitions. The upper floor will be used by Deaconess Drant and her assistants. Separated by a small lanai from the main building will be a kitchen and behind this a laundry where people in the neighborhood may come to do their washing. On the King street and Pua lane sides will be a garden and on the Ewa-mauka corner an esplanade for games and drill. Dickey & Newcomb are the architects.

IT IS A MEMORIAL.

This splendid group of buildings, which will be a great boon to Deaconess Drant and her band of faithful workers, is the gift of W. A. Proctor of the firm of Proctor & Gamble, the manufacturers of Ivory Soap, and is a memorial to his wife, Charlotte Elizabeth Proctor, who recently died.

Public Works now states that pipe is now on the way, or ordered, which can be used, if desired, for such purpose.

Resolved, By the Ninth Precinct Republican Club of the Fifth District that it is the sense of this club that water be supplied to the residents of Puunui Tract by running a line from the reservoir, across the stream, and down Puunui avenue to Wyllie street and down Liliha street from Puunui avenue to Wyllie street and that said line be laid with the first pipe of sufficient size available or received by the government hereafter.

Resolved, That all officers of this Club and Delegates elected by it and all Committees selected from it be instructed, and that all Republican Senators and Representatives voted for in said Precinct be requested to use their best efforts to secure the laying of said line without delay.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the new Fifth District Republican Committee with the request that they endorse the same and forward it to the Governor with a request that the Governor take such speedy action in the premises as will enable the residents of said tract to obtain government water at an early date.

Resolved, That copy of these resolutions be sent to Representative H. C. Vida and Senators W. C. Achi, L. L. McCandless, C. L. Crabbe, C. Brown and D. P. R. Isenberg, with the request that they give the same attention and do all in their power to assist in accomplishing the objects of said resolutions.

J. D. AVERY.

We hereby certify that the above and foregoing resolutions were unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of the Ninth Precinct Republican Club of the Fifth District, held July 22, 1904.

GLOOMY DEMOCRATIC OUTLOOK.

Three months ago the Democracy thought it could elect its next nominee for President. It conceived the idea that if it named a conservative man he would get the votes and they would get the money of the great business interests whom Roosevelt was said to have alienated. In due time they picked out Alton B. Parker of New York and sat down to await the rising flood of popular enthusiasm. But instead of a rise there was a subsidence. The business interests, dissatisfied with a platform which represented a concession to Bryanism and responding to the definite financial pledges of the Republican platform, determined to support Roosevelt; and today we read in Democratic papers that money is pouring into Republican coffers and that the "trusts" are standing pat. Leading Parker papers scarcely try to conceal their vexation.

It may be set down as an axiom of American politics that the party in power stays in power except in times of financial panic or factional rebellion. Following the business disaster of 1873 was a revolt against Republicanism which gave the Democratic nominee for President a popular majority of a quarter of a million. Why he was not seated is a question of ethics. Hard times during Cleveland's last term did most to elect McKinley. Good times were the strongest obstacles that Bryan had to meet. At present the times are good enough to sustain the Roosevelt administration in public favor and defeat every scheme to impose a change for the sake of a change.

The utterances of the Democratic press on the mainland are generally gloomy. Many leading journals chide the party managers for apathy. But the managers, shrewd and capable as they are, cannot be blamed for their failure to awaken a corpse. They are making what noise they can but there is no response from the inert party mass in which all enthusiasm is dead. Nor does it seem probable that their efforts will result in anything better later on.

THE TICKET.

The Republican nominations for the Senate and some of the House nominations of the Fourth District, are excellent. As for the House nominations of the Fifth the best that can be said, to use a phrase of Abraham Lincoln's, is that people who like that sort of a ticket will find it just the sort of a ticket they will like.

THE EXAMPLE OF KULA.

Kula, Maui, Sept. 16, '04.
 Editor Advertiser: I might suggest that if you want any practical knowledge on the success of small farming in the district of Kula it would pay you to look into the actual condition of things here. Kula has been considered a fine field for the small farmer, and it has been the land of "corn and swine" for the past ten or fifteen years. But during the past four and a half months that I have been here I have spent a good deal of time inquiring into conditions and making observations, and I must confess the evidences of success are few and scattered. I think that to be fair and just to those whom you are trying to interest in small farming on these islands, you should at least study carefully into the actual condition of those who are now trying to make a success of small farming and find out what they are really accomplishing. I think you would find most decidedly that the results are not all that one could wish.

Ride through this district and find how few Portuguese there are left here, talk with those who are and you will find they have little to show for years of hard work.

I merely mention these facts for I feel you are doing an injustice to your readers in many of the statements you are now publishing.

Very truly yours,

F. C. ATHERTON.

The Advertiser would like to hear from Mr. Atherton more in detail. What, for instance, represents small farming in Kula? Is it the growing of corn and potatoes and other staples of the North Temperate zone? If so the failure of such crops in the Tropical zone does not surprise this paper nor does it alter our belief that tropical products may be grown for export in most localities of these islands.

The proposition is to grow such products, like grapes of bananas, coffee, which is now being the Louisiana well-known. Maize, hemp, vanilla, etc. for export and home use. The products, grapes, honey, etc. for home use and small change. This is the situation in the Tropical zone and is not a failure. It is a success in the Tropical zone and it can be easily seen if people will take time.

THE MOSQUITO PROBLEM.

An article from the Scientific American on the progress of mosquito extermination has been reprinted in slips for enclosure in letters. The article mentions the New Jersey and Long Island movements and speaks of the Federal Government's lively interest in the matter thus:

"That the importance of the mosquito is truly understood as regards its relation to the public health in the Panama Canal territory is shown by the appointment of Dr. William C. Gorgas, Assistant Surgeon-General, U. S. A., who has instructions to provide drainage for swamps and all mosquito-breeding places in that district. He is now in Panama for that purpose."

In the following remarks the Scientific American recommends to communities a mode of procedure just such as has been followed in Honolulu and Hilo for a year past:

"Work will have to be begun, no doubt, as that on Long Island was, at the expense of public-spirited citizens who are willing to risk money to prove in a practical way the extermination of the mosquito. It requires co-operation from so many sources that all that private citizens can do by organization and all that the cities can be induced to do in the way of appropriation will need to be combined in order to work on a territory large enough to make the demonstration convincing. It will be an excellent plan for village or town improvement associations in mosquito localities to discuss in public meetings the necessity of eliminating the mosquito pest, urging co-operation with adjoining localities, and show by maps and plans what can be done to secure permanent and lasting improvement. Ultimately, city and State aid can be secured to assist the work, much on the same plan as State aid is now given in road building."

In the course of the article the following appears:

"There are localities under our own observation which have been free from mosquitoes for six years past, which for many years were unbearable to live in in hot weather, all due to the elimination of stagnant pools by simple drainage."

It is doubtful, however, if the problem is so simple here as to be a mere matter of drainage. In and about rice fields and taro patches there is a great deal of water that stands long enough for mosquito propagation, and until the contrary is demonstrated the abundance of the pest in many seemingly well drained localities must be regarded as largely due to this cause.

PROBLEMS OF SMALL FARMING.

The Star's objections to the small farm movement are that there is no local market worth cultivating for island vegetables and fruits; that tropical products, salable on the coast, can only be shipped on American steamers and there are not enough of these to assure prompt service and low rates; that there is no promise that a farmer could find good, productive land upon which to grow his wares; that a market and transportation to it should precede the cultivation of Hawaiian crops.

In reply we would say:

I. The small farm proposition does not include market gardening except for the sustenance of the farmer while export crops are growing. We contend that he can always feed himself and have surplus poultry, eggs, pork, dairy products and fruits to sell. That is as good an outlook as the majority of American farmers have.

II. Steamers cannot be expected to tie up here and stay to encourage the growing of export crops. They will wait until there is business for them. Where there is much freight accumulating the carrying agents always come for it. That is their trade. The American pioneers in their progress West raised crops and waited for the railroad. Eastern Kansas was a farming region fifteen years before a railroad came; and it did not have much of a local market in the meantime. California, with one man to the square mile, grew things and waited nearly twenty years after 1849 for the cars to come and when the promise of business grew bright enough the freight trains arrived. Everywhere in the United States PRODUCTION HAS PRECEDED MARKETING AND CARRYING AGENTS. When the sugar industry began in Hawaii there was a small market and meagre transportation—one steamer a month and a few sailing vessels. But commerce expanded to meet the demands upon it and the market widened. It always has been so and always will be so.

III. There are about 75,000 acres of public land left on Oahu alone. Nearly every acre of it is more susceptible than the soil of the inter-mountain Western States, which Uncle Sam is populating as fast as he can. Leases on this land are all the time expiring and this paper contends, with the assent of every practical farmer in the Territory, that something better can be done with the available soil than to lease it again for raising lantana or range cows.

Other parts of the tropics, Mexico and Central America, Cuba and Porto Rico, Java and southern China and Formosa, Brazil and Peru, the Straits and Borneo, are producing diversified crops and making money by them. Shall it be said that of all the tropical zones, Hawaii is the only one where agriculture is a failure and this in spite of American skill, patience and energy? Heaven forbid! Hawaii could be turned into one vast garden of tobacco, sugar, vanilla, rubber, cotton, guano, lime, coffee, banana, pine-apple and Maize. If half the cultivation and courage and enterprise of the capitalist were put into it which have gone into the sugar industry,

Each locality in this city has no more momentum than it deserves. A concerted effort in any neighborhood will clean up the pest. If mosquitoes are troublesome it is due to the neglect of those they attack.

The death of Captain Cameron is a sad reminder of the old adage, a good man and a skilled and brave sailor.

THE LEGISLATIVE SITUATION.

How long are honest men in the Republican party going to let themselves be deluded into electing solid Thirteens who do the enemy's business in the Legislature and incidentally make work for grand juries that follow?

Two years ago the Republican machine turned out a ticket here and elsewhere which contained thirteen suspected Home Rulers and undoubted Sealawags, headed by the notorious Kumalae. These men were voted for by Republicans who would not have trusted one of them, privately, with a pound of cheese. The voting was done under the party lash. To elect them the organization did its best and the Bulletin, in its effort to attach a printing graft, commended them as loyal and capable men whom it would be treachery to defeat. That paper was particularly solicitous for the election of Kumalae.

After the experience with that scandalous Legislature the feeling against electing another one like it was general. But time softens good intentions as well as asperities and now we have a Republican House ticket which portends, in the larger part of its personnel, worse things than its predecessor. The Maui ticket, with Coelho, Nakuina—who was making bitter Home Rule speeches two years ago—Haia, Kalino, Pall, et al., is so rank that it imparts the off-shore breeze. Elsewhere, there are nominees to kill in the interests of public decency; while here in the Fifth District is an aggregation of cheap incompetency which ought, in all conscience, to make even the old Seventh precinct blush. Every man who looks at the list knows that it means another Solid Thirteen standing on a platform of Addition, Division and Silence.

Yet it is Republican and good citizens and taxpayers, WHOSE MONEY IS AT STAKE, are expected to support it. But perhaps we are in error. Perhaps, as with the Solid Thirteen two years ago, it is only Republican in name and Home Rule and anti-haole in heart. If so, what are the bounden duties of citizens and taxpayers, providing that a better choice is afforded? Are they to vote against their own interests, vote to have money squandered and laws mixed up, to have the good name of the Territory besmirched again, simply because a gang of tax-eaters has temporarily taken on a Republican disguise?

Such a question need not be answered now. It may be safely left to men who, over and over again, have expressed their detestation of such a Legislature as was last elected under the Republican flag—a Legislature which only stopped stealing when, as at the special session, there was nothing left to steal but registered warrants.

Somebody signing himself E. A. Fraser and living in Mahukona writes the Bulletin a criticism of the Board of Health's circular about the per capita returns of Federal bounty on Hawaii calling it an "Advertiser dream." As the Advertiser had nothing to do with the circular further than to print it in the news columns and as the Bulletin very properly commended it editorially, Mr. Fraser seems to have become mixed as to identities.

The friends of Morris Keokakole are raising money, at the instance of Admiral Beckley, to bring him home from Washington. The letter published in Sunday's Advertiser touched a responsive chord and will be the means of Mr. Keokakole's return. Charity might well go a little further and bring back the aged Hawaiian couple whom Dr. Walters found in the northern part of California, where they have lived for a generation or more. Their exile has outlasted many a lifetime.

By naming a hula-hula ticket as they did, the Republicans of the Fifth have left the door of opportunity wide open to the Democrats. We hear on every side, among respectable Republicans living Ewa of Nuuanu avenue, that a sound Democratic ticket will get their votes. The names of McIntyre, Harvey, Trem and Emmelhut are mentioned and other men of ability, some of them Hawaiians, are being canvassed.

Since writing of automobile excesses here several stories of narrow escapes from being run over have come to the office. It is proper to say, however, that the auto drivers, during the last two days, have slowed their machines down. They are wise in this, for if a serious accident occurs, due to carelessness of the chauffeurs, the Legislature will not be so easily restrained from making the auto-regulations drastic.

To the average man who is not lashed by prejudice or politics it is only common sense that anyone who is silly enough to vote for Solid Thirteen is equally and soundly lashed with a club—Main News.

Yea—if you put fire in the head, where there is nothing to hurt.

Further Motion, for requiring the Advertiser to publish from Hilo, from Hilo, is called to the aid of some of the Hilo news to raising Hilo of Hilo.

EVERYBODY WANTS HAWAIIAN STAMPS

A large percentage of the letters which are received by the Hawaii Promotion Committee have references to the stamp craze. After seriously talking of Hawaii and the chances for outsiders to come here and earn a living or invest capital, the writer will turn his or her attention to an inquiry for Hawaiian stamps.

Often times the writer will enclose a sheet of stamps, for instance, Australia, and request certain denominations of Hawaiian stamps to be sent in exchange. The desire to obtain Hawaiian stamps seems unlimited and the writers make all kinds of propositions to obtain them.

One young lady said she would send cancelled United States stamps for similar denominations of the old local issues.

Iaukea's Forlorn Hope.

The Democratic nominee, Mr. Iaukea, goes around the country on a proselytizing tour with defeat stamped on his countenance," the Hawaii Herald says. "He knows that the people of Hawaii will have none of his teachings, for they know that it is but a short time since he was the leader of the Republican party in his precinct and that he became a Democrat, not because he believed in the doctrines of that party, but because he felt that he was not getting the proper recognition. He believed that the Democratic party was in need of just such a man as he and as the Republican party has a plethora of excellent timber he deserted with the hope of the reward which he now enjoys (3) as the nominee for Delegate. The burden of his song is that Cupid can do nothing in Congress and it is necessary to keep a man there at great expense in order to influence legislation. The latter part of his statement may be true and it may be true ten years hence, for everyone who knows anything of Congress knows that there has always been a 'third house' and there always will be. If Mr. Iaukea was a delegate this third house might be larger. If the people of the Islands, in any single industry, see fit to keep a representative at Washington, the business is theirs so long as it does not interfere with legislation that is for the general good. The representative from Honolulu is paid from private funds and is not, in any way, a burden to the taxpayers."

Reminders to Iaukea.

A stock story for the Democratic speakers during this campaign is that which puts the onus of annexation on the Republican party. Mr. Iaukea overlooked in his reckoning the fact that the resolution in favor of annexation, and which was afterwards adopted, was presented by Senator Newlands of Nevada, who was a Silver Democrat. This resolution was that upon which the Islands were annexed, and without it results would have been different. Mr. Iaukea was reminded of this during his meeting at Oka on Tuesday. Another assertion for which the genial nominee was called down was that the Republicans are forcing the Hawaiians to vote as they direct. Mr. Iaukea had to admit that the voter marked his ticket as he wished and without dictation. Mr. Iaukea forgets, perhaps, that when the overthrow of the Queen took place he became one of the supporters of the provisional government and was an office holder during that regime. It is in bad taste for him to denounce the government that gave him recognition at a time when matters political were in such an unsettled state. He may change his political beliefs as often as he may please him, but he should not berate the party from which he succeeded in order to laud his newly made friends.—Hawaii Herald.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

Puna Plantation Is On Contract Basis.

HILLO, Sept. 16.—While on the island of Hawaii, Delegate Kuhio upon the advice of the Republican leaders here, decided to remain after the Territorial convention and make campaign hay while the sun shines. He realizes that it is the early bird that catches the worm, and proceeded to sound the first alarm note in the political barnyard. After resting up Saturday and Sunday after the convention, in company with John Wise, Archie Mahaula and D. Kalauokalani, Jr., the Delegate went into Puna, making speeches at Kopofo, Pahoehoe, and Kalapana on Monday. Tuesday night a large meeting was held at Oloa, and Wednesday night found the party at Waiakoa. Bright and early Tuesday morning a start was made for Laupahoehoe and Hamakua, and en route at various places along the way the Hawaiians were gathered to see and hear from the Republican candidate and the other spellbinders.

They held a meeting Saturday night at Waiakoa, which was largely attended, and then proceeded through Waiakoa to Kahoala. Prince Cupid will continue his journey through South Kohala, Kona and Kau this week, catching the Mauna Loa next Monday morning at Kailua. Reports received of their progress is encouraging.

PUNA TO CONTINUE.

Wm. Pfotenhauser, in company with his attorney, A. Lewis of Honolulu, arrived on the Maui last week and up to the time of his departure on Friday spent most of his time looking over the Puna plantation, of which he has been appointed receiver. Despite the rumors of the abandonment of the place, Receiver Pfotenhauser found the plantation in very fair condition. Owing to the scattered condition of the fields, the property will never prove a profitable plantation under corporate management, but Mr. Pfotenhauser believes it can be successfully operated by the contract system to small planters. Already contracts have been let for the care and cultivation of the cane now growing, which presents a fine appearance and promises a good crop. There are 150 laborers, mostly Chinese at Kahoehoe and perhaps a hundred at Pahoehoe. Mr. Pfotenhauser finds it impossible to spend his entire time in Puna, and during his absence has put Charles Weatherbee in charge. Mr. Weatherbee has been the plantation bookkeeper for many years, since the inception of the Puna Sugar Co., is well acquainted with the fields and will make a capable assistant to Mr. Pfotenhauser. Messrs. Pfotenhauser and Lewis returned to Honolulu on Friday's Kinohi.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN.

The Democratic convention for the First district at Hilo nominated Ollie T. Shipman for Senator and David Ewaliko, Henry West and J. M. Konoako for Representatives. C. M. LeBlond was chairman of the convention. Curtis P. Iaukea, Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress, addressed a crowd at a band concert in Hilo after coming in from the country. His main argument was an appeal to the voters to abandon the Republican party and administration and vote for a new regime, which he promised would be just as good if not better.

He stated that the governing power was still maintained in the hands of the few, and that Governor Carter was no less than an autocrat, assuming the right to demand resignations of the heads of departments in advance of their appointment. He claimed this was un-American, unwise and contrary to either Republican or Democratic doctrine. He charged this as being political chicanery and not possible on the mainland. He said the effort of the administration officials to compel self-respecting citizens to become Republicans in order to secure a dollar for a day's labor on the public improvements of the Territory as something unheard of. This he called "dirty politics."

He made a strong appeal to the Home Rulers to join the Democratic party, where he said they would have an equal right in the government of the party and of the country. He extolled the advantages to be gained from being in the party opposed to the administration, and assured his auditors that if the Democrats failed of election this November, their fight was not without its results. "If we succeed," he said, "in getting the Home Rulers to join the Democratic party, then we will have done something which the Republicans never could have accomplished. It remains now for the Democratic party being organized within the Territory to take the proper place as a political factor in the affairs of the islands. If there ever was a time in the history of this country when citizens should stand up for their rights and see that the Territory was not mismanaged, it is now." He urged all good Democrats, Home Rulers and even Republicans who do not approve of the Governor's actions, to rise up and overthrow the remnants of the empire and its misrule.

GENERAL NEWS.

Shippers of bananas find the returns during July, August and September less satisfactory than at other seasons owing to the fact that the coast cities are filled with California fruit. At the present time there are more than 1000 tons of bananas in the grove, the grower taking no risk and getting his cash on delivery. The plan is adopted, however, only in case of extra good fruit and large bunches.

The Golf Club has adopted the by-laws governing the Hilo Tennis Club. The initiation fee was fixed at ten dollars for gentlemen and five dollars for ladies. The dues will be ten and six dollars per annum respectively for gentlemen and ladies. The links over in Puna are rapidly being put into shape and will shortly be ready for use.

Master Dillon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Dillon of Pepeekeo, left on the Enterprise to enter school at Oakland. He is only eight years old and makes the trip alone. He will be met in San Francisco by Mr. Dillon's sister and will remain in her charge until his return to the islands.

There was surprise expressed at Kaulaokalani, the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Holmes, by more than a hundred guests when they found they were to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the wedding of their host and hostess. The fact became known only when the decorations of the large hall came in view. Fruit punch was served throughout the evening and shortly before midnight ice and cake were served the guests. A wedding cake was cut by the hostess and passed by her to the guests. The ring fell to Miss Florence Scott.

Live Louissons.

The Louissons are showing by their shipments of coffee by every steamer that the industry is not dead. Abraham Lincoln Louisson is just now in San Francisco telling dealers there in his quiet way of the benefits they may derive from the proper treatment of Hawaiian coffee and if the Herald is not mistaken he will present arguments that could convince a statue on a Cogswell fountain.—Hawaii Herald.

A CITIZEN'S STORY

Told by a Honolulu Citizen for the Benefit of Honolulu People.

The greatest importance attached to the following is that it concerns a Honolulu citizen. It would lose three-quarters of its interest if it involved some resident of Kalamazoo, Mich., or Woonsocket, R. I. Like all the testimony which has appeared here, and like all which will follow about the Old Quaker remedy, Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, it comes from residents, fellow citizens and neighbors. No other remedy can show such a record of home cures. Read this case:

Mrs. Emma Vieira, of King street, this city, says: "For three or four years I had the misfortune to be afflicted with an aching back. The pain and discomfort this entailed on me can be better imagined than described. I have two children, and it was of course difficult for me to attend to them while oppressed with suffering. The way in which I found relief eventually was by using Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, procured at the Hollister Drug Co.'s store. They did me a large amount of good, as I now testify. I should certainly recommend those who have backache or any other form of kidney trouble to try Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50. Mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

GOVERNOR CARTER'S TOUR ON THE ISLAND OF MAUI

Received at Many Luau—Addresses Large Assemblies of Young and Old—Democrats Disgusted with Fusion Ticket.

MAUI, Sept. 17.—On Saturday the 16th, when Governor Carter and party which included Secretary Atkinson, Land Commissioner Pratt, Forester Hosmer and others arrived in Wailuku from Waihee, they were met at the bridge over the Wailuku river by Company I of the National Guard, composed of forty sturdy soldiers commanded by Capt. W. E. Bal. Under this military escort the distinguished visitors entered the town where later in the evening addresses were delivered by the Governor and Secretary to a large gathering of people assembled in front of Hall church.

Sunday was spent by Mr. Carter in Kula at "Kulamann" and by Mr. Atkinson at Haleakala Ranch. Mrs. Carter and Miss Coleman were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cooke, having proceeded directly to Kula via Maunaloa Bay, thus avoiding the fatiguing trip around West Maui. On Monday the 12th, the gubernatorial party which in addition to the Honolulu officials now included J. P. Cooke, L. von Tempky, W. O. Aiken and others, visited Polipoli Spring 5000 feet above the sea level, and found sufficient water for the stock that frequented the locality, but no surplus.

AT ULUPALAKUA.

The same afternoon the party attended a luau given on the premises of Ulupalakua school. From the veranda of the building the Governor and Secretary made speeches to a gathering of 150 or more Hawaiians, for the most part sympathizers with Home Rule party politics.

Among the many things said by Mr. Carter was this: "That if it was within his power, he would discharge from office any government employee who refused to be approached by the humblest citizen when the latter desired to make some complaint."

Mr. Atkinson made some most forcible remarks in regard to local political conditions to the effect that favors could not be expected by people always in opposition to the administration. The way to gain advantages was to work in harmony with "the powers that be" and all pull together for the common good.

The night was spent at Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Raymond's by Mrs. Carter, Miss Coleman, Messrs. Atkinson, Pratt, Hosmer and others, while Governor Carter and Mr. Cooke went back to Kamalo to Edgar Morton's residence.

TALK TO SCHOOL CHILDREN.

On Tuesday the 13th, the whole party at noon came to Kealahou (Kula) school premises where about 500 men, women and children greeted the Governor. A hundred and twenty school children arrayed in their best saluted the Governor and the stars and stripes and sang patriotic songs. Mr. Carter made a short but pleasing address to the children, and according to his custom gave them a holiday.

But the luau! Surely it was a red-letter day for Kula. So many Honolulu dignitaries within its borders and such an elaborate and toothsome banquet, pronounced by that connoisseur Secretary Atkinson, to be the best ever attended by him in his travels around the islands.

After the feast the Governor delivered a long, interesting address to the large audience assembled in front of the schoolhouse veranda. His speech was simple in style as the occasion demanded—sensible, direct—evading no issue whatsoever.

He said the reason of his coming to Maui was not to attend luau but to become acquainted with the people. Mr. Atkinson and himself wished to learn from personal observation of the needs of Maui citizens. He (the Governor) was born and reared in Hawaii and in his infancy had been attended by a Hawaiian nurse, consequently he was fond of Hawaiians. He further stated that he could not do the work of governing the islands alone, but desired the assistance of all leaders, both men and women.

INHERITED SYMPATHIES.

President Roosevelt did not wish the political situation in the Territory to be as it formerly was, a sort of race-war between the Hawaiians and whites, but desired the best elements of both factions to become united and to control government affairs. He (Carter) desired to show the natives the folly of the former status. His grandfather had been treasurer (Minister of Finance) when these islands were under a king and his father had been Kalamau's minister to Washington. The former had always stated that Hawaiians were the fonder of all Polynesian races. Both had maintained that Hawaiians were capable of self-government. He wished to prove himself a worthy descendant of them both. He declared that the action of last legislature showed that Hawaiians could govern themselves.

Maui had no good roads when compared with Hawaii and other islands. At Honolulu recently, when the natives learned of his intended visit, they turned out with cane-knives to cut away the lantana which choked the narrow pathway. If his coming would always be of such benefit, he would visit Maui regularly once a year and have the lantana cut. He thought the day of local road boards was past. What was needed was a competent engineer for each island to control the planning of the roads.

Concerning Polipoli spring, he found that no resident had been refused water for his stock and that no condition of the agreement made during the former administration had been violated. When he returned to Honolulu he would consult the Attorney General about the matter.

AS TO HOMESTEADS.

In regard to homestead lands, he found that so many different methods had been allowed "homesteaders" for fulfilling conditions, there was no uniformity whatsoever in the matter. Mr. Pratt and himself would probably arouse hard feelings, for they intended that every homesteader should satisfy the conditions in a uniform manner, in the one prescribed by law. He believed in the 99 year leases, under which natives could not sell their homesteads to Chinese or plantations.

He did not for a moment advocate federal control of the Leper Settlement. What he wished and believed could be accomplished was to discover a cure for the dread disease by aid of the resources of the federal government.

Governor Carter made a fine impression upon the citizens of Kula. Secretary Atkinson caused much merriment by his humor. He said the Governor's grandfather was a well known missionary and therefore the Governor was a missionary. All missionaries needed watching and that was the reason he always followed the Governor around and watched him.

JACK'S SOUL VEXED.

Mr. Atkinson also expressed his indignation because some road-work in the vicinity had been completed under contract by Japanese instead of by citizen labor.

Tuesday night was spent by the visitors in Kula. On Wednesday morning Forester Hosmer, in company with L. A. Thurston who had arrived from Honolulu that morning, made a trip up Haleakala above the forest line. The Governor, accompanied by the Secretary and Land Commissioner, visited the Makawao school and addressed the school children.

At noon the party took lunch at Mrs. Dowsett's at Puuomale. At 2:30 p. m. Maunaloa Seminary, Paia, was visited, and the remaining hours of the afternoon were devoted to a reception at the residence of Manager and Mrs.

A FAIR EXCHANGE.

Large sums of money are no doubt realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and honest business—where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. Prompt and faithful in every contract or engagement they enjoy the confidence of the public and command a class of trade that is refused to unstable or tricky competitors. In the long run it does not pay to cheat or deceive others. A humbug may be advertised with a noise like the blowing of a thousand trumpets, but it is soon detected and exposed. The manufacturers of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION have always acted on very different principles. Before offering it to the public they first made sure of its merits. Then, and then only, did its name appear in print. People were assured of what it would do, and found they believe in it as we all believe in the word of a tried and trusted friend. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It aids digestion, drives impurities from the blood, and cures Anemia, Scrofula, Debility, Influenza, Throat and Lung Troubles, and Wasting Complaints. Dr. Louis W. Bishop says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil in a most palatable form." It is a scientific remedy and a food with a delicious taste and flavor. One bottle convinces. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists here and everywhere.

D. C. Lindsay of Paia plantation.

LUAU ABANDONED.

The sad news of Mr. Sam's T. Alexander's sudden death in South Africa caused the abandonment of the grand luau in honor of the Governor arranged to take place under the auspices of the Maui Agricultural Company at Paia.

Wednesday night was spent by the Governor and party at Mr. Lindsay's. On Thursday a luau was attended at Huelo near Manager Myers' residence and speeches made to the natives by the Governor, Secretary and others.

Thursday night was spent at Mr. Myers' and W. E. K. Maikai's. On Thursday a fine luau was given the visitors at the Koolau ditch camp, three miles mauka of Keenae village. This feast was arranged for by Engineer O'Shaughnessy, Mrs. T. Awana and D. W. Napihaha.

The usual addresses were made after the feast by the Governor and Secretary.

In the evening at D. W. Napihaha's, Keenae, they also spoke to a large company of Hawaiians.

Today the Governor's party is feasted at Nahiku.

POLITICAL.

Last Saturday night the 16th, at the Wailuku skating rink, the Maui Home Rule-Democratic convention made the following nomination:

For Senators—Wm. White of Lahaina and James L. Cooke of Wailuku. For Representatives—John Richardson and C. L. Kookoo of Wailuku, D. H. Kahualelo of Molokai, J. E. Kekipi of Pauwela, G. P. Kaumakaoe of Hana and Geo. Kaubi of Honolulu.

In the race for senators, White led the contestants by one vote, and Cooke tied with Kaubi, President Kalamaukani casting the deciding vote in favor of Cooke.

In choosing a representative—candidate from Makawao district D. H. Aukai of Kula was beaten by Kekipi by 2 or 3 votes.

In the choice from Molokai, F. W. Beckley was barely beaten by D. H. Kahualelo and in selection for Hana Wm. L. Hardy ran close with Kaumakaoe.

For Lahaina honors Geo. Kaubi turned down both Charlie Makekua and D. Kalei Kahualelo.

Senator Kalamaukani presided and was the controlling spirit of the convention.

The Republicans say that the slate nominated last Saturday is decidedly a weak one and it is rumored that the Democrats are much dissatisfied with it. Rumor has it that the Democrats will soon hold a convention by themselves and nominate an entire new representative ticket. The Pauwela Democrats are especially aroused over the matter.

PROMOTION WORK BY MOVING PICTURES

From a late colonial paper it is learned that biroscope pictures of scenes in the industrial life of Canada were recently shown for two months at the Palace Theater, one of the best of the West End music halls in London. It is stated that the Agent-General for Victoria (Australia), Mr. Taverner, is endeavoring to make arrangements to advertise his State in the same way. He learns that the supply of such views to theaters and lecture agencies is mainly in the hands of one firm, the Charles Urban Animated Pictures Company, which states that it has nearly 3000 clients on its books. The Canadian views were obtained by the Palace theater through its agency, and it now offers to send out a photographer to Victoria to obtain a similar series of pictures there. The company's charge for doing this and subsequently offering the pictures to its customers would be £500. Mr. Taverner has recommended his Government to accept the proposal.

The conviction is rapidly forcing itself upon the advertising world that it is the illustrated ad. that does the most effective work. Men, women and children will look at a picture whenever it is presented to them, and often it will leave its impress upon the mind where an eloquent appeal in words will remain unnoticed. Hawaiian scenes depicted in this manner at Los Angeles and other much frequented tourist centers on the mainland during the season would be a powerful aid to promotion work.

Maui News Items.

The Haiku Cannery is running this week and turning out a high grade of canned pines and pine jelly.

A proposition is being considered to establish a candy factory, in connection with ice cream parlors in Wailuku. The Huelo Mill is being taken apart by William Smith, engineer of the Pacific Sugar Mill, for the purpose of removing it to Hawaii.

C. H. Judd of Parker's ranch, who brought over fifteen head of horses and found ready sale for them at Hamakua, returned to Waihee by Tuesday's Kinohi.

The following is a correct list of officers of the sub-executive committee of the Republican party on Maui: H. P. Baldwin, Chairman; J. N. K. Keola, Secretary; T. M. Church, Treasurer; A. N. Kepolaki, J. J. Newcombe, Edgar Morton, W. A. McKay and Geo. O. Cooper.

Maui Horse Deteriorated.

Some years since, when William Goodness, W. H. Cornwell, Sr., and other kamaeas on Maui were engaged in raising horses there were to be found on Maui some of the best horses raised on the islands. Today Hawaii and Kauai have outstripped Maui in this direction, and only last week a shipment of horses from Hawaii was brought to Maui and sold at good figures, while Kauai polo ponies are said to excel anything that the Maui boys have been able to import from the coast. It is about time that Maui horse raisers should import the right kind of stallions and broodmares and compete with the other islands in raising fine stock for home use.—Maui News.

The school, which has been housed in very small quarters, is in a most thriving condition and was sorely in need of new buildings. It is composed almost entirely of Chinese, who are very enthusiastic in their work and loyal to their school.

Bishop Restarick has always kept this branch of the church work near to his heart. Being on a visit to the mainland he could not attend the ceremony of yesterday.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

BY DANIEL LOGAN.

Exception has been taken by Auditor Fisher and Treasurer Campbell to a portion of the remarks on Government finances in this department last week, because the writer did not go behind the Auditor's statement for August and show why there was such a heavy falling off in receipts from the corresponding month last year. The fact is that while there was the falling off in receipts as stated, the current revenue for August of this year was somewhat in excess of that for August, 1903. Under the head of receipts in August of last year was included $136,000 credited to treasury notes, being money advanced by the banks under that device, this year discarded. Receipts of current revenue proper in August, 1903, were $61,738.40 and in August, 1904, $63,239.52, an increase of $1501.12. Road tax to be expended in the districts where collected and receipts from land sales are not included in these figures, and the total income from usual sources for August was a little over $60,000 or about the same as for some years past.

Treasurer Campbell states that all of the Treasury warrants that will have been issued up to the end of October will be paid in November, and he estimates that a balance of $147,000 will be left in the Treasury against November bills. That retrenchment is not an unmeaning word will be proved by a reduction of over $200,000 in current indebtedness of the Territory the present fiscal year.
On the first of July there was a floating debt of $664,480.70. Basing probable receipts on those of last year and assuming that all of the appropriations in the two bills will be expended, together with the payment of unpaid bills from last year, it is estimated that the net indebtedness of the Territory on current account will have been reduced to $430,000 on June 30, 1905. Over $800,000 of the million dollar loan has been made subject to contracts for public improvements up till the present time.

THE STOCK MARKET.

Although the sales have not been very many, the local market has been strong in several stocks. Willard E. Brown of Halstead & Co., thus describes the situation:

"There has not been much business because the offerings are light. With plenty of buyers, but few shares are offered. Waialua is $17.50 bid and $20 asked, and you are safe to put it at $20 on Monday morning. Ewa has sold at $23 and no more is to be had at that figure. Inquiries from San Francisco have come in for 200 shares of Ewa.

"The star stock has been Hawaiian Commercial, sales having been made at $65 a share. Hawaiian Sugar stands the same, $27 bid, but none of it is offered. Sales of Honokaa have taken place in the local market at $16 a share.
Kihai has been very strong during the week with a demand at $10 a share. Oahu is strong at $95 bid. Olua has dropped off a little, sales having taken place at $4.50. We have sold 50 shares at that figure.

"Pioneer is in demand at $100, an advance of $5 during the week. It seems to be pretty well settled that Pioneer will pay one per cent a month beginning with November and the prospect of a big crop next year is creating a keen demand.

"There is nothing doing in other stocks or in the bond market, the only thing being $4000 Hawaiian Government 5 per cent. While Ewa stood at $20, Waialua at $40 and Pioneer at $50 people were waiting to sell who are now holding on to those stocks, and people who held off from buying then are now loath to pay the advanced prices."

Reported sales were the following: Ewa Plantation Co. (par $20), 100 at $23; Waialua Agricultural Co. (par $100), 75 at $17.50, 25 at $18.50; Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co. (par $100), 50 at $62.50; Kihai Plantation Co. (par $50), 100 at $10; Oookala (par $20), 105 at $6; McBryde Sugar Co. (par $20), 75 at $4;
Hawaiian Sugar Co. (par $20), 26 at $27; Honokaa (par $20), 25 at $16; C.
Brewer & Co., Ltd., (par $100), 121 at $300; Hawaiian Government 5 per cent bonds, $4000 at par.

REAL ESTATE.

A piece of land containing one and one-third acres, adjoining the present lumber yard of Wilder & Co., at Iwilei, was sold the past week by the Oahu Railway & Land Co. to the S. G. Wilder Estate. The consideration was in the neighborhood of $12,000. Part of the land will probably be used for an extension of Wilder & Co.'s lumber yard.

James F. Morgan will hold some important sales tomorrow noon, under judicial decrees and otherwise. At the Judiciary building will be sold the valuable Manoa property foreclosed against the Island Realty Co. at the suit of Henry E.
Cooper. It is a fine suburban location containing 62 acres and having upon it the elegant Roman mansion built by Mr. Cooper for himself. At the same place the late Harry Congdon's homestead on Punchbowl slopes will be sold.
By order of the trustees of the Queen's Hospital the lease of 10,500 acres, being the land of Wawaihae 2nd, Hawaii, will be sold at Morgan's auction room, the upset rental being $2500 a year.

GENERAL.

Whereas the previous week began with a holiday, the past one ended with a holiday. Public holidays in Hawaii come in close pairs. Beginning with Christmas and New Year's in winter, the Eleventh of June and Fourth of July come together inside of a month in summer and Labor Day and Regatta Day within a fortnight in autumn. Thanksgiving comes about a month in advance of Christmas, and Memorial Day a fortnight ahead of June 11. Though it might be better to have our holidays more evenly distributed, it is practically out of the question, as nearly all of them are immutable. Though each makes a break in business, they all promote trade and enhance the nimbleness of the nickel. This year the close of what is recognized as the annual fall season arrives with the best situation of the sugar industry met in several years. The more cheerful tone noted some weeks ago in business circles generally is being increasingly maintained.

AN OLAA SETTLER ONE OF RUSSIA'S NAVAL HEROES

Mountain View, Sept. 9, 1904.

Editor Advertiser: The enclosed photograph is that of Commodore Ivan N. Lebedeff, whose heroic death in the defense of Port Arthur is described in your issue of 7th inst. page 4 under the heading "Stands by His Guns."

He was a resident of Olaa, Island of Hawaii some eight years ago as a settler and coffee planter occupying lots
N. 320-325 at 22 miles in the Russian colony. He expected after the conclusion of his term of service to come back to Olaa and remain for the rest of his days. He is now 56 years of age and was commodore of one of the Russian battleships.

It was a good death, although in a wrong cause.

Respectfully,
DR. NICHOLAS RUSSEL.

Following is the article referred to:
CHEFOO, Aug. 30, 8 p. m.—The last issue received here of the Novokral, the official organ at Port Arthur, contains an account warmly praising the conduct of Captain Lebedeff, commanding the Marines at Zaredoutli, who stood on top of a wall, his revolver in one hand and his sword in the other, and killed or wounded twenty odd Japanese, who, mounting on the shoulders of their comrades, attempted to scale the wall. When the Japanese were repulsed Captain Lebedeff sat down and was wiping the perspiration from his face when a shrapnel shell tore his body to pieces.

[The photograph which Dr. Russel sent will appear in a later issue of the Advertiser.]

Loubet's Double.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—President Loubet has a most wonderful double who promenades near the Elysee Palace (the presidential mansion), receiving and gravely returning with evident enjoyment the salutations of passersby, who mistake him for the president of France and are lost in admiration of this modest, unassuming little man, who likes to walk about his own house in such democratic fashion.
